CultureGrams

Did you know that it's possible to have the world at your fingertips?

Well, nearly all of the world with 187 out of 193 countries represented.

CultureGrams, a product of ProQuest Information and Learning, is an online database accessible through HSPLS's website, which offers 187 country profiles. It is light and fun, offering trivia and general statistics and facts, covering 25 categories.

If you want to actually hear the tune of a country's national anthem, that too, is a click away. There's more.

It's easy to do! Select a country from the drop-down menu. The fact sheet format includes descriptions of its flag, population, history, language, lifestyle, and customs, each running about one to two paragraphs in length. There are two audio file buttons: hear how to correctly pronounce the name of the country, and listen to the tune of its national anthem. The Current Time button will let you know what time it is in Algiers to Zurich. There's also a Currency Converter button, a photo gallery, a few recipes and short biographies on the country's famous people. Create a comparison chart of vital statistics with the Data Tables feature.

There are three editions: World, Kids and States. The World edition is written for junior high and up. The Kids edition, geared for upper-elementary grades, is a more graphic but abridged version, and includes a timeline. The States edition features our 50 states plus Washington D.C., and has its own audio file of state birds as well as the basics and trivia. For Hawaii, under "Famous People," you will see a list that includes singer Bette Midler and actress Tia Carrere.

The fact sheet styled format and concise text lets you whiz through the country's highlights. CultureGrams may just whet your curiosity and be the beginning to your wanting to explore different countries.

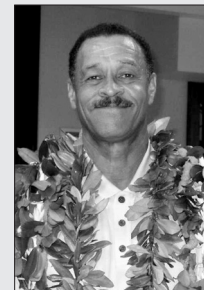

To access CultureGrams from your home computer, have your valid library card ready. Log-on to www.librarieshawaii.org, select "Other Databases" from the navigation column, and then click on CultureGrams. Type in your card number and you're ready to traipse across the countries!

Contemporary Jazz Musicians to Perform at Libraries

By Paul H. Mark

Ring in the New Year @ your library . . . and move to the beat of a nationally-acclaimed jazz drummer!

The Hawaii State Public Library System will present contemporary jazz drummer/composer Robert Jospé and percussionist Kevin Davis in a series of lecture-demonstration programs at 17 libraries on Oahu, the Big Island, and on Maui, from Jan. 22 – Feb. 3. Admission is free.

Jospé, who began his career in New York City, is known for his inventive use of rhythmic styles incorporating salsa, samba, swing, funk and African rhythms into his own unique and distinctive style of contemporary jazz. Jospé currently resides in Charlottesville, Va., where he is a music faculty member of the University of Virginia. Since 1992, Jospé and Davis have presented the "World Beat Workshop" to more than 250 schools, festivals, and universities throughout Virginia.

Based on the "World Beat Workshop," this one-hour program will examine the African cultural influences in American, Central American, and South American Dance Music through lecture, demonstration, and group participation. This interactive learning experience is suitable for ages 5 to adults. Swing, rock, salsa, mambo, calypso, reggae, merengue, samba and bossa nova will be explained and demonstrated using a drum set and a wide variety of percussion instruments. In addition, the history of how and where these types of dance music developed will be introduced.

Funding for this program was provided by the UH-Manoa Outreach College's Statewide Cultural Extension Program, with support from the National Endowment for the Arts, and the Hawaii State Foundation on Culture and the Arts.

Leader of Inner Rhythm, a jazz and world beat instrumental ensemble, Jospé has performed at festivals and concert halls throughout the mid-Atlantic region since 1990. In addition, Jospé has performed with many musicians including Dave Matthews, Willie Nelson, Michael Brecker, and performed on numerous soundtracks for PBS and The Discovery Channel.
